Written by Mr. Ghany Naeem Kerolus

"Because he has set his love upon Me, therefore I will deliver him; I will set him on high, because he has known my name. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him and honor him."

Psalm 91:14

Mr. Ghany Naeem Kerolus was in his freshman year of high school, when on his way back from school with one of his friends, a fight broke out. Ghany found himself alone against a group of unpleasant coercers who would hurt him. Civilians noticed what was going on and interfered to break off the quarrel. Each one went his own way but the bullies' swore they wouldn't forget about the matter. Ghany made it safely back home but was distressed by the incident all night long.

The following day, he took the same route to school. However, after school was dismissed, he found the same disturbing group of boys, from the day before, by the school gate. He noticed that they expected to see him as they were all holding sticks and knives. Ghany didn't know how to handle the situation but he found himself taking out a Pope Kerolus book that he always kept in his backpack. After staring at a picture of Pope Kerolus on the cover he said, "Please God be with me, through the intercessions of Pope Kerolus." Mr. Ghany placed the book on his head (as a soldier, putting on his helmet, would do to protect him in battle) and went out through the midst of them. Not one of them touched him or even spoke to him, and he safely returned back home.

The following day after school one of the boys from the group confronted him. He questioned Ghany saying, "You did not come out of school yesterday!" "Where did you go?" "For a long time we all stood at the front gate waiting and looking for you everywhere!"

Not answering him he broke into tears thanking God and Pope Kerolus for protecting him to the point that they didn't see him. They talked about the problem and the problem was solved peacefully
